Email for students who are VU employees

Email for students who are employees of Vilnius University. The mailbox is available at exchange.vu.lt via a shared email. You will need a couple of simple operations to read and write letters as a student. There are two ways:

1. After signing in, select another account to open in your account

Enter your student address

!Enter student address

A new window will open the Student Box environment.

1. The second way (more convenient) is to add a student box as an additional directory. This will allow you to see both emails in one window. To write from a student, use the mouse to scroll through the message folder and write a new message.
Configuration instructions (general information, text and video):
